

Excerpts from Ka Leo Nui

(Mahalo nui to Norma Imada Yamamoto for her editing efforts)

'62 edition:

A LOOK INTO THE FUTURE:

As we look ten years into the future we see that Dudley Akama, former Frosh Class President, still has the pep and go that he did 10 years ago, for he has managed to hold his title as "homo sapiens division: hopscotch and jumping rope champ."

Jeffrey W. (Wolf) Chang has entered the world of medicine--another Ben Casey. he and his lucky wife (may she rest in peace!) recently celebrated their fifth anniversary. A surprise party was thrown for the whole family at the Peppermint Lounge where Casanova Chang warmed up his "hot mama hips", eager to do the twist.

Nelson Shibasaki, former National Backstroke Champion, is still on top. That is, top lifeguard for the Hawaii Swim Club's kiddies wading pool.

Rodney Chiogioji is still proud of his being the "perfect man" and going to the beach daily to show his "magnificent" physique to all the specimens. on the beach.

Leonard Oh still has the waistline that girls drool over. What's the secret, Leonard?

'63 edition:

AN EVENTFUL WEEK:

During the week of April 1-5, the Class of '65 celebrates their Sophomore Class Week.

Monday: April Fool's Day, we witnessed the clashing colors worn for "clash day" by daring individuals.

Tuesday: along with the rain, "soggy" clothes and wet feet were disregarded while the sophomores had an informal "jam" session during their P.E. period in the "barn".

Wednesday: the Sophomore boys were turned into perfect gentlemen while serving each girl her lunch.

Thursday: Lavender, black and white head this color scheme for "color day". Generous Sophomore boys presented the girls with plumeria leis. Also tables will be turned on the girls when they serve lunch to the boys.

Friday: Harlequin Ball will be given as the culminating even of the Sophomore Class week. During the dance, the sophomores will learn some of the new dances. Of these new dances, "The Bird", "The Sunkist Squeeze", and "The Push and Kick" will be taught.

'64 edition:

DEAR JUNIOR (fifty years from today)

Today, March 6, 2014, is the fiftieth anniversary of Junior Class Day. It was a day culminating a glorious class week of Junior planning and activities, making all its members sit up, proud to be members of the Class of 1965.

Activities started on March 5--Impersonation Day. Juniors dressed as their favorite heroes and heroines. The class suddenly found among its members the Beatles (a fad in the old days), a mid-century construction worker, and many Greenwich Village folk-singing natives.

This activity was only leading up to another big event--Class Dress-Up Day on March 6. Juniors really slicked up--the boys wore white shirts and ties; the girls wore extra-special dresses.

During the lunch hour that day, Ian Lind and Elton Lee chaired a skit portraying the juniors stealing of the senior class banner. The class council was the star of this "dramatic masterpiece."

Fun night was the highlight of class week.

The final topping of the day was the unveiling of the Junior Class banner, the result of much time and effort by the Junior Girls' Club and the Hui Anuenues.

The wonderful class week came to a close. Yet, it never ended. In memory and spirit it endured.

'65 edition:

MEMORIES ARE MADE OF THIS...

Monday: Hobo Day, seniors departed from their usual impeccable attire and showed up sporting patched clothing.

Tuesday: was the best day of all, Girl's Day.

Wednesday: Boy's Day, the boys had a chance to retaliate. Chief victims were, naturally, the chief torturers of Girl's Day.

Thursday: Crazy Day. We enjoyed a senior cake. A toilet bowl in the quadrangle was a gift to the Class of '66.

Friday: senior ribbons, Miss Kunioka and her staff cooked a special Senior lunch. Crazy Day committee put up lavender doorknobs on all doors of the school. Our Last Will and Testament was solemnly read.

In addition to special school days, there were off-campus, voluntary attendance activities. Tuesday morning the Senior Class Breakfast was held at Coco's, and those who managed to get out of bed that early had a hearty meal to reward them.

The Senior Class Banquet culminates the week. Seniors will gather at the Reef Hotel for dinner and entertainment by Linda Green and the Tempos. Some of our own talent will also perform.

SENIOR PLAY:

The senior class will present "TeaHouse of the August Moon" by John Patrick , May 14, as the traditional senior class production. The play will be presented to senior class parents and the student body.